SUBJECT: Warning Assessment: East Asia

The following items were discussed by the Community Representatives at the 18 June Warning Meeting.

2. Korea -- In the ROK, General Chon Doo Huan's recent activities suggested to analysts that he is using the textbook written by Park Chong Hee to move toward seizing power and establishing one-man rule. It was also observed, however, that if Chon hopes to succeed within the time-frame now being considered for constitutional reform and had occurred elsewhere. This could be read as an indication that the North Koreans were getting their civilian population better 25X1	prepared for war.

25X1	8. China Following up last month's discussion, analysts called attention to possible frictions at the top on economic issues, as indicated by a spate of Peoples Daily editorials. For example, criticisms had been leveled at unnamed people who had favored a faster pace of modernization an issue on which Hua Guofeng is vulnerable, in addition to his vulnerability on the question of material incentives. Nevertheless, the tone of such editorials was neither sharp nor accusative.
4500	9. Analysts assume that Deng Xiaoping would indeed resign from
	his governmental position in August, taking Li Xiannian, Yeh Jianying, and perhaps Hua Guofeng with him. Hua would thus be left with only the Party Chairmanship. It appeared from editorials and other evidence that the top leaders were presently thrashing out issues before the major meetings scheduled for later this year. Analysts referred to the differences between Hua Guofeng's and Zhao Dzeyang's definitions of Zhao's duties as Vice Premier, which suggested that Hua might try to 25X1	hang on to the Premiership.
ik	10. On the subject of Sino-US relations, analysts felt that the Chinese are quiet satisfied with the present state of affairs. The 4 June Holbrooke speech and Geng Biao's visit to the US had generated
2	favorable Chinese comments, along with statements affirming coincidence of strategic views between the two countries. On the Geng Biao visit itself, the Peoples Daily commentary spoke first of all about this coincidence of views, and accorded less importance to US arms sales. There were, however, the "usual differences between the US and China
25X1	on Kampuchea and Pol Pot.
* *	11. As an indicator of the current state of Sino-US relations,
Ċ	analysts commented on the large number of people traveling from each country to the other. This had also occurred, it was pointed out, in the case of France, when in the early days of Sino-French relations
•	similar flow of visits had occurred. The present volume of US-PRC travel nevertheless was much greater.	25X1
	12. One analyst remarked upon the key role which Hong Kong is assuming in Chinese policy. The Chinese are putting their representatives into Hong Kong business and commercial concerns in significant numbers, probably to train their people in business practices but also suggesting
25X1	that Hong Kong has a long-term part to play in China's economic develop- ment.

13. Commenting upon the Chinese refusal to respond to Soviet feelers on improving Sino-Soviet relations, analysts judged that Beijing's present policies, including expanded relations with the US, are more valuable to the Chinese then achieving some easing of tensions with the Soviets along the border. There was agreement that a failure to continue to realize such benefits could generate some pressures for a change, although there was no sign of this now. There was some speculation that if the Soviets revealed that their bid had been rejected, a considerable degree of ferment could be generated within the Chinese Foreign Ministry and PLA. Apropos of possible potential problems in US-Communist relations, attention was called to the Peoples Daily editorial critizing Governor Reagan's China policy. 14. No particular change in the Soviet OB along the Chinese border had been observed, except for the addition of a new Backfire regiment. The Soviets had also undertaken a succession of command post exercises with the Transbaikal and Far Eastern military districts under command of the new headquarters entity set up last year.	. 25X1 25X1
15. Philippines Reference was made to the reported manifesto of anti-Marcos activities provided to the Department of State by Senator Aquino, which called for a united front including the Communists against Marcos as well as armed demonstrations. Analysts recalled that a similar manifesto had occurred during elections some two years ago and this added nothing new. It was agreed that the Philippine situation merited close watching, however.	25X1
16. Indochina — Analysts addressed the security situation in Kampuchea, noting that the Vietnamese and Heng Semrin forces were having difficulties in maintaining control over the roads, although the level of DK attacks had not reached a point requiring special attention. Eastern Kampuchea was said to be fairly secure, but communications elsewhere were being hit; e.g., Route 4 struck one time, and a press report of an attack on a train NW of Phnom Penh confirmed. Not all these attacks were attributable to the DK; some were caused by elements which were essentially bandits. Heavy rains were now occurring, and Route 6 was under water. WN casualties were evidently fairly low, and Vietnamese troops were undertaking operations of their own. On the other hand, whole units of Heng Samrin troops had been deserting.
17. The DK forces were described as being well supplied with small arms and mines, with the expectation of receiving 1600 additional tons of arms aid by the end of the summer. Hence they were well able to do what they would do intensify operations against the Vietnamese.

There had been agreement between the Chinese and Thai to "cool it" on the score of military aid to the DK during the Thach visit to Thailand, and the Thai and Chinese might now be playing some kind of a shadow game.	25×
18	22. On the subject of the forthcoming ASEAN Foreign Ministers tean (1)	Meeting in Kuala Lumpur, analysts assumed that the main question which Secretary Muskie would be asked was how the US would vote in the next UN General Assembly on Kampuchean representation. Besides this, there was an underlying question on the score of US-Chinese relations and what they entailed for Southeast Asia. The Indonesians and Malaysians were not persuaded that the developing relationships between the US and China were not being undertaken at their expense.	25×
*	23. Analysts suggested that the Thai might run into problems connected with the new effort to repatriate Kampuchean refugees from the camps located in Thailand. Nobody much was anxious to return only 500 to 600 people had agreed to go and the Vietnamese were also objecting. There was a chance that the Vietnamese might try to scare some of the repatriates back into Thailand.	25>
	24. The Soviet presence in Vietnam was touched upon briefly. It appeared that the Soviets were concentrating this presence at Cam Ranh Bay by moving their air activities there from Danang. However, Soviet communicators remained at Danang. There was no indication to suggest that the Soviets were in any way cutting back on their aid to Vietnam.	25X 7
